

Kuasha Jakhon Nominated in LIMPA as a Semi-Finalist

Last year, a Bengali Romantic thriller that stirred Kolkata audience was none other than “Kuasha Jakhon”. Directed by the debutant Directors Meenakshii and Abhishek, this film is a piece of art which was rarest of the rare. It’s very rare that we approach a genre like paranormal romance in Indian Cinema and “KUASHA JAKHON” was surely a very different and difficult attempt of filmmaking that gave the audience of Bengal a real treat of cinema.

With massive overtones of gothic and noir, this screenplay stands with the exclusive character-sketch that has been done justice by the director duo.

Gargee Roy Chowdhury played Rajeshwari in the film which was one of the most crucial characters that actually sums up the mystery in the flick and we know how powerful an actress she is. Rajeshwari is a mysterious character that surely had a magnetic influence in the minds of the audience.

The second most important character was played by Rishav Basu, who had also debuted in this movie. He played the central character in the movie where with the help of his master, he explored deeper and unknown facts hidden in his own self that helps other lives and cleanses their existence from issues known and unknown.

There are incidents from 1960’s and happening in the present time that summed up the story telling which accelerates in an alternative format, graphically moving towards the climax.

Supporting major characters had been played by Shataf Figar, Manali Dey, Anindya Pulak Banerjee, Sudeshna Roy, Saon Dey, and others in pivotal roles.

The film had received recognitions from various International Film Festivals and Awards. It has been ranked among one of the top ten films releasing worldwide, as selected by the Jury of the Festigious Film Festival (Los Angeles).

It is the only Bengali film to be nominated as one of the 12 Films selected under the Best Asian Feature Film Category, in the London International Motion Picture

Awards (L.I.M.P.A.) 2019. London International Motion Pictures Awards is an annual event held in London, United Kingdom. It aims to disseminate film culture and the progress achieved in various branches of film art and to strength the relations among filmmakers throughout the world in general. The philosophy of the festival is to give recognition to the best films and support with the distribution. L.I.M.P.A is organized by Vodsky Ltd, in partnership with other film producers and international festivals.

The film was produced under the banner of Lucifer Films. The story and the screenplay have been written by Meenakshii & Abhishek, script by Utsav Mukherjee. The Music had also received much recognition on different social media platforms which was composed by the very talented Chirantan Banerjee.
